State Council of Higher Education for Virginia
Improving Teacher Quality State Grants, Title II, Part A
Request for Proposals

INTRODUCTION

Background

The No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 (NCLB) amends the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 (ESEA) by making significant changes in the major Federal programs that support schools' efforts to educate the nation's students. NCLB places a major emphasis upon teacher quality as a factor in improving student achievement. The new Title II programs focus on preparing, training, and recruiting high-quality teachers and principals and require states to develop plans with annual measurable objectives that will ensure that all teachers teaching in core academic subjects such as English, reading, language arts, mathematics, science, foreign languages, civics and government, economics, arts, history and geography, are highly qualified. Reaching this goal will require more effective in-service training and professional development for teachers currently in the classroom.

Improving Teacher Quality State Grants (ITQ)

The purpose of the Improving Teacher Quality State Grants, Title II, Part A, is to increase the academic achievement of all students by helping schools and school districts improve teacher and principal quality and ensure that all teachers are highly qualified. Through this program, state educational agencies (SEAs) and local educational agencies (LEAs) receive funds on a formula basis, as does the State agency for higher education (SAHE). The SAHE provides competitive grants to partnerships comprised, at a minimum, a private or State institution of higher education (IHE) and the division of the institution that prepares teachers and principals, schools of education and arts and sciences, along with one or more high-need LEAs (See pages 19-21 for list of High-Need School Divisions).

ITQ state grants provide agencies with the flexibility to use these funds creatively to address challenges to teacher quality. The concern may include teacher preparation and qualifications of new teachers, recruitment and hiring, induction, professional development, teacher retention, or the need for more capable principals and assistant principals to serve as effective school leaders.

Eligibility

Eligibility is limited to principal partnerships comprised at a minimum of (1) a private or State institution of higher education (IHE) and the division of the institution that prepares teachers and principals; (2) a school of arts and sciences; and (3) a high-need

Local Education Agency (LEA). Proposals must meet these criteria to be considered and the partnership eligibility requirement form must be completed.

Additional participants of an eligible partnership may also include another LEA, a public charter school, an elementary school or secondary school, an educational service agency, a nonprofit educational organization, another IHE, a nonprofit cultural organization, an entity carrying out a pre-kindergarten program, a teacher organization, a principal organization, or a business. Community Colleges that do not have a division that prepares teachers and principals are only eligible to participate as a non-member of any partnership. The State Council of Higher Education for Virginia encourages applications from institutions of higher education of all types (two-year and four-year; baccalaureate, comprehensive and doctoral-granting; public and private, etc.) and in all geographic regions of the Commonwealth (Northern Virginia, Tidewater, Accomack, Southside, Southwest, etc.), as well as from eligible nonprofit organizations. In order to widen participation in the No Child Left Behind, Title II, Part A program and to bring in new ideas and fresh approaches, applications are especially invited from collaborative partnerships across education levels and sectors.

Purpose

Consistent with the priorities and criteria it has announced for selection of grant recipients, the SAHE must make awards of Improving Teacher Quality State Grants funds to support the following types of partnership activities to enhance student achievement in participating high-need LEAs:

- a. Professional development activities in core academic subjects to ensure that:
 - Teachers and highly qualified paraprofessionals Highly qualified paraprofessionals are defined in section 2102(4) as “A paraprofessional who has not less than 2 years of - (A) experience in a classroom; and (B) postsecondary education or demonstrated competence in a field or academic subject for which there is a significant shortage of qualified teachers” (USED, Improving Teacher Quality State Grants Non-Regulatory Guidance, Title II, Part A Statue, Section 2102(4) (and, when appropriate, principals) have subject matter knowledge in academic subjects taught (including knowledge of how to use computers and other technology to enhance student learning); and
 - Principals have the instructional leadership skills to help them work more effectively with teachers to help students master core academic subjects. (Instructional leadership training of principals that does not focus on core content areas is ineligible for funding).
- b. Development and provision of assistance to LEAs and to their teachers, paraprofessionals, or school principals, in providing sustained, high-quality professional development activities that:
 - Ensure that those individuals can use challenging State academic content standards, student academic achievement standards, and State assessments to improve instructional practices and student academic achievement;

- May include intensive programs designed to prepare individuals to provide instruction related to the professional development described in the preceding paragraph to others in their schools; and
- May include activities of partnerships between one or more LEAs, one or more of the LEAs' schools, and one or more IHEs for the purpose of improving teaching and learning at low-performing schools.

The intent of the federal legislation is to support sustained, intensive, high-quality projects likely to bring about lasting change that improves content knowledge and teaching skills in core academic areas. While most of the workshops and institutes supported by these grants will be held in the summer months, workshops can be held during the school year. However, workshops held in the summer months must have organized support for teachers continuing during the first months of classroom implementation.

The NCLB program will not support short-term professional development projects, curriculum development projects, or projects designed to assist teachers who are not currently in the classroom. Supported activities should equip teachers and principals with proper materials and management techniques, and should present opportunities for discussion and evaluation.

The federal law requires that, in order for an institution of higher education to be eligible for a grant, it must enter into an agreement with a local school division, or consortia of such divisions, to provide sustained, high-quality professional development for the elementary and secondary school teachers in the schools of that division.

Therefore, teacher participants and administrators from the schools to be served by the project must be involved in the planning of projects and the preparation of proposals, which must be aligned with assessment of the needs of the local school divisions. Financial and programmatic participation by school divisions, private schools, other private organizations, and the sponsoring higher education institution or nonprofit organization is necessary and should be reflected in the proposed budget information.

The federal law also requires that each activity supported by the Title II, Part A grant involve the joint effort of the institution of higher education's school or department of education, if any, and the schools or departments in the specific disciplines in which such professional development will be provided. Therefore, faculty from academic departments of the core academic areas and from schools or departments of education must work together, where appropriate, in project development and implementation.

Year 2017-2018 Awards

Based upon the past NCLB award and contingent upon the availability of funding plus any carry forward from 2015-16, the anticipated total amount to be awarded for 2017-2018 is approximately $1.0 million. SCHEV will award approximately ten competitive grants. The maximum amount awarded will not exceed $250,000. The amount awarded will reflect a judgment about the project's potential to provide sustained, high-quality professional development. Key considerations in evaluating amounts requested are institutional financial support and the relative cost effectiveness of the proposals submitted, in terms of the number of participants served, the cost per participant and priorities. The grants will be examined based on the quality of the proposals submitted, the collaboration among partners, scientific based research, measurable objectives and the proposed budget amounts.

Priorities for Funding

This year's competition will give considerable priority to professional development proposals that focus on middle school Mathematics, Science, English and other core academic areas that increase academic achievement and align with state educational initiatives. While applicants can submit proposals for any content area, we strongly recommend the submission of proposals for professional development activities that:

- promote Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) instruction, or
- advance one of three priorities identified by the Virginia Department of Education (VDOE):
 - improve K-5 student comprehension of content area nonfiction reading and writing
 - develop and use project and problem-based instructional modules that promote cross-curricular teaching and learning to teams of middle and high school teachers
 - implement research-based strategies that support instruction for English language learners(See Appendix E for additional information on VDOE's education priorities.)

Proposals must include the following elements:

- Collaboration among colleges of education and colleges of arts/sciences;
- Local schools' needs assessments, including a copy of the needs assessment and explaining how the proposed project will address an identified need;
- Content focused on mathematics, science, foreign languages, English, reading or language arts, civics and government, economics, arts, history and geography;
- The targeting and inclusion of high-need schools among the consortium of school divisions participating in the proposal;
- Collaboration among schools and post-secondary institutions, including a letter of intent to collaborate from each school or division and each post-secondary institution;
- An evaluation component grounded in scientifically-based research on the project content, pedagogy, and delivery method; and
- A specific assurance to make public all products (e.g., example capstone curricular materials including student assignments, tasks, prompts, and research and project ideas, assessment rubrics, performance exemplars, etc.) resulting from the project and in a format that can be posted to a Web site and used by Virginia school divisions and teachers.

In addition, priority will be given to projects that include one or more of the following elements:

- Substantive participation and “vertical teaming” of teachers and administrators and higher-education faculty in the pre-planning, implementation, and evaluation of the project for private and public schools;
- Collaboration/partnerships involving two or more institutions of higher education;
- Professional development for school and division administrators on the role of instructional leadership;
- Promote STEM instruction;
- Improve content areas in reading and writing, support college and career readiness skills; provide research-based strategies of instruction for English language learners
- Address the lowest performance subject areas in school or district;
- Mentoring component – Pairing college faculty or master teachers with classroom teachers;
- Development and/or dissemination of demonstrated models of success through partnerships with high-need schools;
- Follow-up sessions and classroom observations; and
- Focus on improving the percentage of highly-qualified teachers or those with provisional or conditional licenses.

SUBMISSION OF PROPOSALS

Institutions of higher education. Accredited public and private, two- and four-year colleges and universities which present written evidence of an agreement with a local school division, or consortia of such divisions, to provide professional development for the elementary and secondary school teachers in the schools of each such division are eligible to apply.

Nonprofit organizations. A nonprofit organization is eligible to apply if: (1) it is registered with the Commonwealth of Virginia as a not-for-profit corporation; (2) its main office is located in Virginia; (3) it provides proof of financial stability and of demonstrated effectiveness in providing professional development; and (4) it works in conjunction with a local school division, or consortia of such divisions, to provide professional development for the elementary and secondary school teachers in the schools of each such division.

Applications from both institutions of higher education and nonprofit organizations must identify faculty members or permanent staff members with a background and expertise in core academic areas, as project director or co-director and instructional staff.

Part One	Cover Page (with signatures)
Part Two	Project Abstract
Part Three	Project Director's Questionnaire
Part Four	Proposal Narrative
Part Five	Budget Forms
Appendix A	Statement of Assurances (with signatures)
Appendix B	Collaborating School Divisions (with signatures)
Appendix C	Key Project Personnel

In addition, nonprofit organizations must include an Addendum for Nonprofit Organizations, not to exceed an additional five (5) pages. This requirement applies to museums, libraries, educational organizations, etc., NOT to institutions of higher education.

At the end of this Request for Proposals is a set of forms for use in preparing a proposal. Each proposal must include all five parts and three appendices (plus the addendum, if needed) to be considered. Following are detailed instructions for preparing each part of the proposal:

Part One: Cover Page. Please fill in all requested information on the form provided as Part One of the proposal. If a question is not applicable to your situation, please write "N/A" in the box rather than leaving it blank. Project titles in box number one should be brief, no more than eight words. Please list the principal project director first in box number three; this will be the person to whom all official correspondence about the grant will be mailed (please list his or her mailing address in box number four). The project director will be responsible for notifying the fiscal staff at his/her institution for budget and expenditures concerns or requests. No more than three project directors may be listed on any one application. Project Directors should notify the coordinator of any personnel changes and provide the necessary information for updating our records.

In box seven, list the division codes for all collaborating local school divisions; a list of numerical codes for school divisions is included in this proposal. In box eight, line A, indicate the total amount to be funded by the NCLB grant. This should be the total amount you are requesting from SCHEV for your project.

Original signatures are required from the project director(s), the chief academic officer or (in the case of nonprofit organizations) the executive director, and the fiscal or grant administrator who would be responsible for the grant. (Please note that signatures from some of these same officers are required on the Statement of Assurances, which is Appendix A.) Do not substitute the signature of the director of sponsored programs or any other administrator for that of the chief academic officer.

Part Two: Project Abstract. Please fill in all requested information and furnish an abstract of the proposed project on the form provided as Part Two of the proposal. Abstracts should be a single paragraph of approximately 100 words, summarizing the project's goals, objectives, activities, target population(s), and expected number of participants. Please avoid highly specialized vocabulary and technical jargon; abstracts should be written so as to be understandable to a well educated lay audience.

Part Three: Project Director's Questionnaire. As Part Three of the proposal, a form is provided for project directors to fill out, with sufficient space provided for typical responses to each question. If a question is not applicable to your situation, please write "N/A" in the space provided rather than leaving it blank. Where there are as many as three project directors, or where answers require elaboration beyond the space provided, please attach an additional page and number it to correspond to the number of the question being answered.

Part Four: Proposal Narrative. (No form is provided for Part Four.) The narrative must include the following sections:

- Identification of local need (20 points) Identify and describe the specific need for enhancement of content knowledge and improvement in pedagogical skills of teachers and/or instructional leadership skills of principals in the proposed service area(s). Explain how the needs of the participating local school division(s) or school(s) were determined. Include the involvement of school teachers and administrators (include private schools) in the project planning, proposal preparation and program implementation. Include evidence of collaboration with one or more school divisions, if applicable. Describe and include a summary of the needs assessment method(s) and instrument (s) and systemic analysis of results. Applicants may want to use information such as student achievement data, information about numbers of teachers who lack full teacher licensure, assessments by administrators and mentor teachers who evaluate teacher and student performance, teacher self-evaluations, and information on achievement gaps from pre-service and past in-service training in the specific core academic subject. Do not provide summaries of needs from national studies and reports; proposal authors and reviewers presumably are aware of these issues.
- Goal of the project (15 points) Describe how the project will meet the criteria and purposes as set forth in this document. Provide a clearly stated list of the specific goals of the project and include measurable and achievable objectives.
- Description of project activities (15 points) Describe project activities and how they relate to achievement of the goals and objectives. Explain how the project plans align with the principles of good professional development. Details should be provided concerning the type of activities planned, the schedule and time allotment for those activities, and the responsible instructional staff. Include descriptions of follow-up activities, workshops and institutes that sustain the knowledge and skills of teachers and principals; evidence is sought that the project will foster professional development that is of high quality and of sufficient duration and intensity to have a positive, lasting effect on classroom instruction and student achievement. Include evidence of joint project development among the schools/college of arts and sciences and education, IHEs and/or NPOS with other entities.

(A suggested format includes: (1) final project planning and participant recruitment efforts; (2) summer/fall workshop or institute; and (3) academic-year follow-up sessions for teacher participants focused on changes in classroom instruction reflective of the content of the summer workshop or institute.

Identify any strategies to provide greater access to and participation in the core academic areas by students of varied backgrounds. Projects are encouraged to take into account the needs of diverse populations so that all students are able to achieve the state's content and student performance standards. Please describe the targeted schools or school divisions (For example, LEAs with low student achievement or low performing schools with provisional and/or conditional licenses, etc).

Provide a recruitment plan for participating teachers and specify recruitment strategies to ensure participation of teachers from public and private schools, minority and female teachers, teachers of the underserved and underrepresented, and teachers from areas where there is a high concentration of low-income students and/or from sparsely populated areas. Identify strategies to include hard-to-reach participants, e.g., teachers who fear mathematics, science, or any of the other core academic areas. (Note that mailing brochures to principals is not an effective recruitment method; one-on-one interaction with potential participants is more effective.)

Finally, include a dissemination plan indicating how information about the project will be shared with other teachers within the participants' school(s), with other schools within the local school division(s), and among school divisions.

- Evaluation plan (20 points) Each proposal must have a formal evaluation plan that consists of two parts and must adequately measure achievement of goals and effectiveness of activities. First, a formal evaluation must be undertaken which is linked directly to the project's stated goals and objectives. This evaluation must be rigorous and comprehensive in its identification of outcomes and in its objective determination of the project's effectiveness in accomplishing its goals and objectives. Describe models, procedures, strategies, measures, and instruments that will be used to collect and analyze. Use of an external evaluator is encouraged, although allowable funds for this purpose will be limited to 5% of total award. A copy should be submitted to SCHEV with the final report. This RFP does not allow employees or graduate students of the participating institution(s) to serve as external evaluators.

Second, the evaluation plan must include a formal assessment of the project's impact on classroom instruction and student achievement in the school year following the project. In order to assist project directors in carrying out this part of the evaluation, a standardized survey of participating teachers has been developed which must be administered either at the last session of follow-up activities or during the following summer. Project directors will be required to collect and tally information from these surveys and to submit a written summary of the results as part of their final project report. Evaluation plans should also provide other effective ways of measuring the project's impact on classroom instruction and student achievement.

- Role of key project personnel (10 points) Include a management plan that describes the respective roles of each project director and other key personnel (including instructional staff) and identify who will carry out project activities and appropriate tasks that will ensure proper and efficient project administration. Specify the time commitment of each to this project and to other duties, in terms of percentage of time. Include a timetable for planning, project activities, follow-up activities, evaluation, reporting/dissemination. The project director's presence and personal involvement in grant-supported activities is strongly encouraged. Also include any special qualifications or experience in providing professional development activities for teachers (especially information that does not appear on the one-page c.v.'s provided in Appendix C).

- Adequacy of resources and cost effectiveness (20 points) The final section of the Proposal Narrative must include a detailed budget narrative relating expenditures to program objectives and demonstrates cost effectiveness. Provide detail explanation/justification of line items that adequately support the proposed project. Include the institution's financial and other resources as well as commitments to support the project and all its activities – including the IHEs, NPOs, and collaborating organizations. The narrative should also include a statement of allocation indicating that no single participant will use more than 50 percent of the funds. NCLB legislation specifies that no single participant in an eligible partnership may use more than 50 percent of the Title II, Part A funds made available to the partnership. In addition, each proposal must include the NCLB budget forms prepared in accordance with proposal guidelines.

No grant will exceed $250,000.00. The amount awarded will reflect a judgment about the project's ability to provide sustained, high-quality professional development with limited resources. A key consideration in evaluating amounts requested will be the relative cost effectiveness of the proposals submitted, in terms of the number of participants served and the cost per participant. Relatively high expenditures for project staff, consultants, and evaluators, for example, will increase the overall cost per participant served and therefore will tend to make a proposal less competitive.

Please be reminded that grant funds are intended to supplement, not supplant, existing funding sources. The provision of matching funds from institutions of higher education, nonprofit organizations, local school districts, and other public and private sources is strongly encouraged, and commitments of support for a project from such sources will strengthen a proposal's chance of being funded. The budget narrative should provide explanation concerning the source and extent of committed matching funds.

Part Five: Budget Forms. In addition to the budget narrative that was part of the proposal narrative (Part Four), all proposals must include budget information on the NCLB budget forms that constitute Part Five of the proposal. The budget should be developed with the advice and assistance of an appropriate fiscal officer of the institution(s) or NPO(s). Careful attention should be given to the following instructions and information.

1. Direct costs: These costs should be detailed to the major object level of expenditure. The object codes listed are for use by public institutions; private institutions and NPOs may use the same codes or analogous ones that they typically use. Examples of eligible items of expenditure (cost) and explanations of information required for itemizing the anticipated expenditures are listed below.

- a. Personal Services and Employee Benefits (1100): Salaries and wages for employees and other full- or part-time staff of the project. Costs for staffing should reflect instructional and administrative salaries that are appropriate to the length of the training session. Entries should identify project staff positions; names of individuals; the base rate of pay per hour, day, week, month, or year; and the total amount or percent of their work time to be charged to the project. Replacement or release-time costs requested for the project faculty personnel should reflect what it would actually cost the institution to hire adjunct faculty. Salaries cannot be drawn at a higher rate than what the individual normally receives. If an institution is requesting full compensation for the cost of tuition and fees for teacher participants, then the institution may not request the cost of replacement or release time for project faculty. Institutions may request compensation for additional administrative duties performed by the project director. This grant does not pay tuition for graduate or undergraduate students involved in the project.
- b. Contractual Services (1200) - Consultants: Fees for special professional services to the project by individuals or firms not involved as project staff (employees) of the institution(s) or NPO(s). Grants funds may not be used to pay for food for conference attendees unless doing so is necessary to accomplish legitimate meeting or conference business. Entries should be by name and title of consultant, type and amount of consultant services to be provided. Special justification is required for consultant fees in excess of $250 per day. Travel expenses should be itemized under "Travel."

Contractual Services (1200) - Travel: Transportation, lodging, meals, and other appropriate travel expenses of project staff and consultants should be budgeted in accordance with institutional policies and regulations, based on the Commonwealth of Virginia's current travel regulations. All project travel must be directly related to the proposed grant activities and must occur within the state.

- c. Supplies and Materials (1300): Supplies, materials and services directly consumed in the course of the project. This category includes: office supplies; educational and laboratory materials; books and audiovisual materials; communications (postage, local and long-distance telephone charges, etc.); printing, publication and photocopying services; and computer services. This program is prohibited specifically from buying electronic tablets, laptops, and full classroom sets of materials for participating teachers. School divisions are encouraged to provide materials needed for classroom implementation. All materials purchased are expected to become the property of the participating teachers, rather than being retained by the sponsoring institution, the school or nonprofit organization. Requests to establish resource centers for teachers at a college or university are strongly discouraged.
- d. Transfer Payments (1400): These may include a modest stipend for teacher participants, tuition, and payment of substitutes so that teachers may attend workshops or classes. NCLB funds cannot be used to provide substitute teachers for participants from private schools. The NCLB participant stipend is not to be used as an inducement to participate in proposed activities. The approved stipend rate is $100 per day. Each participating school division has NCLB funds available to support in-service programs like those funded by this program. School division financial support is strongly encouraged and would show the district's commitment to implementing the proposed project. Before including stipends, project personnel should work with cooperating schools or school divisions to determine standard practice and to determine if teacher participants can be supported by local funds.

- e. Continuous Charges (1500): These charges may include rental of space (office and instructional) if strongly justified, as well as rental of specialized program equipment which is not otherwise available. Capital equipment purchases are not allowed.
2. Indirect Costs: For the NCLB Program, the Council of Higher Education allows institutions or NPOs to request indirect costs for recovery of up to eight percent (8%), or actual rate if lower. For example, an institution or NPO requesting $35,000 to support project activities may add a line item for indirect costs of $2,800, making the total request $37,800.
3. Matching Funds: All support from the sponsoring institution of higher education or nonprofit organization, local school divisions, business and industry, organizations and agencies should be listed in the "Inst./NPO/Other" column.
4. Cooperating Institutions and Organizations: Institutions or organizations that cooperate in joint projects may submit individual budgets or a single combined budget. For single budget submissions the individual amounts budgeted for each cooperating institution or organization should be noted. Only one of the collaborating partners may be designated as the fiscal agent. Subcontracts to participating school divisions are not allowed.

APPENDIX E

Virginia Department of Education Priorities

High priority will be given to the Commonwealth's ongoing emphasis on excellence in reading, writing, and oral language instruction. The three priorities will center on: 1) improving K-5 content area nonfiction reading and writing; 2) enhancing the college and career readiness skills in argumentation, persuasive writing, and research; and 3) implementing research-based strategies that support instruction for English Learners (ELs). Successful proposals in the three priority areas must provide a specific assurance to make public all products resulting from the projects in a format that can be posted to a Web site and used freely by Virginia school divisions and teachers.

● Priority One: K-5 Content Area Nonfiction Reading and Writing

This priority continues Virginia's effort to support students' understanding of information text through reading, writing, and vocabulary instruction. Priority will be given to proposals that provide high-quality teacher professional development that helps young students improve their comprehension of nonfiction text from the areas of history and social science, science, and other subjects from the elementary curriculum. The professional development must provide teachers with strategies to help students:

- identify and use key features of text (e.g., titles, headings, graphics, charts, bold print, etc.) that reinforce content learning;
- use structural, syntactic, and semantic clues to learn and apply new vocabulary;
- link new vocabulary with background knowledge in the content areas;
- recognize and use words signaling causation, effect, position, time, and sequence;
- use pre-reading strategies to activate learning in the content area;
- employ a variety of content linked comprehension strategies including the use of grade appropriate graphic organizers, investigation and inquiry technique, simulations, modeling, tools, artifacts, and primary sources;
- apply post-reading strategies to summarize and communicate information;
- use reading, writing, research, and presentation skills to find and share information; and
- use language to integrate and model connections among content areas.

● Priority Two: Middle and High School Cross-curricular Project and Problem-based Learning Modules

The second priority continues to support Virginia's college and career readiness initiative by focusing on critical postsecondary skills including:

- nonfiction reading;
- analysis of primary sources;
- persuasive and argumentative writing; and
- research.

Proposals should provide high-quality professional development for school teams of middle and high school teachers, including English, mathematics, science, history and social science, or other secondary instructional areas, to develop and use project- and problem-based instructional modules that promote cross-curricular teaching and learning. Modules should include common nonfiction reading assignments, use of primary sources, and persuasive and/or argumentative essays supported by research. Priority will be given to proposals that provide high-quality teacher professional development and resultant instructional modules that help students:

- collaborate on real-world problems or projects;
- gather and organize evidence to support a position;

- research and evaluate the relevance and quality of evidence used to support a claim;
- analyze and identify false premises in arguments and evaluate their role in the argument;
- effectively address counterclaims; and
- present evidence clearly and convincingly.

Additionally, the professional development should provide teachers with structured opportunities to develop, share, critique, and refine models of cross-curricular problem and project-based modules that will include:

- driving questions;
- research articles;
- use of instructional technology;
- lists of major products to be produced;
- writing assignments;
- rubrics;
- formative assessments;
- community resources; and
- other possible resources to serve as examples of problem and project-based modules.

● Priority Three: Research-Based Strategies that Support Instruction for English Language Learners (ELLs)

The third priority focuses on Virginia’s support of ongoing professional development to provide research-based strategies that support instruction for English learners (ELs). Over the past years, the EL population in Virginia has grown substantially in certain divisions, currently comprising almost eight percent of the overall student population at the state level. The majority of all teachers have ELs in their classrooms. Virginia has delivered ongoing professional development to provide teachers awareness of the impact of this subgroup on statewide Standards of Learning (SOL) and ACCESS for ELLs (Assessing Comprehension and Communication in English State-to-State for English Language Learners) assessments, as well as continued support for the World-Class Instructional Design and Assessment (WIDA) English Language Development (ELD) Standards. In addition to the trainings offered by the state, teachers have expressed a need for training that specifically addresses research-based strategies that would support instruction to ELs.

Priority will be given to proposals that provide high-quality teacher professional development and resultant instructional modules based upon research-based strategies that support instruction for ELs at various WIDA proficiency levels in meeting the Commonwealth’s ongoing emphasis on excellence in reading, writing, and oral language instruction across all grade levels and instructional areas.
